

SHORTS.

County warrants are now worth but eighty-cent on the dollar.

The Missouri bridge and drawing was postponed last Saturday. Notice will be given of the time.

The book store of McKee & Austin has changed hands. Mr. Rafter Smith is the purchaser.

Hon. Z. A. Mitchell, of St. Louis, was in the city this week, spending a few days with his family.

How many cases of stomach-ache are there in this city? It is a question that is asked every day.

The oldest on Pine street, south of Franklin, will be completed to-day. It is a good and substantial job.

When a young man is continually illing himself up with "coca cola," people call it "sowing wild seed."

The "social-evils" have taken possession of the old soap factory, and now hold defiance to the city authorities.

On the farm of Dr. Atkinson, near town, millet is growing which measures six feet and five inches in height.

Kites are the favorite source of amusement now. Some of our merchants have been trying their hands at making them.

The thermometer has been so discouraged by the low conduct of the weather, that it hardly has courage to rise up again.

We have a lot of constitutions and by-laws of Harmony Grange No. 68, which we wish the Secretary of that lodge would call for.

The quickest way to cure yourself of the dangerous appetite for drink, is to take bad whisky. It will place you out of danger in about three years.

We wish our readers would compare this copy of our paper with the one they have with any other copy, and see who is best by the comparison.

Prof. Fleet, of the Baptist Female College, is still skirmishing among the grangers, and makes new friends for himself and his institution wherever he goes.

Have you heard that lead weather condenser, the answer to which is "Be cause they all want to see it clear up." If you have not, ask some fellow to tell you.

Little pitchers have big ears, it is said, and there is a little pitcher in town who has to wear leather pad doors over his ears, to keep the ball from falling into them.

A. C. Dollinger, successor of the well-known jeweler, L. Megede, on Monday made an assignment of his entire stock, estimated at $10,000, for the benefit of his creditors.

Coris Foster was fined before Recorder Smith for visiting a bawdy house. He is now working on the streets together with eight others, who are working to pay their fines.

Thomas Slaughter, son of Mr. Martin Slaughter, of the Greenfield neighborhood, left for Monday for Chicago, where he will attend school for a couple of years, and eventually study law.

When a ball among the fallen women in this city is interrupted by the appearance at the door of a policeman, the die is cast, and the game is over.

Dr. Wilson is an extensive advertiser. He not only patronizes his own city papers, but sends ads. off to neighboring county papers which do not seem to appreciate his enterprise.

Mr. Helm, ex-justice of the peace, of Helm & Schell, who have the largest cave and most extensive brewery in the state outside of St. Louis, was in town this week on business.

Overcasts were not uncomfortable last Monday, and if old atmospheric perturbations Tico, can't get up any higher temperature for the month of August, he had better let the weather run itself for a while.

The Lexington correspondent of the "Caucasian" still flourishes like a "green bay leaf," and is receiving the support it is justly entitled to at the hands of both the reading and advertising public.

Last Saturday morning the heavy rains considerably washed by the roads. The train on the K. & C. N. was also delayed from some cause.

A poor little man came into the office this week, and asked us if we would like two silver dollars as a year's subscription to the "Caucasian." We had him arrested and put in an insane asylum at once. It is dangerous for such men to be at large.

J. M. Crowder says that if the man who stole his dear little sister is going to heaven, that he wants to know if he will go to the same place. Jim and the dog stealer never could live in peace, above.

It is really a great pity that such a nice room as the Christian church in this city should be so nearly ruined by the echo of the speaker's voice. It rings like a bell, and it is very difficult to keep the run of a discourse. Can't the society devise a cheap remedy for the evil?

Young ladies of the City Club, if you only knew it, you are attracting a great deal of attention. Two thirds of the papers in Central Missouri have something to say about you. Fling forth your aprons to the wind and blazon on them the motto: "The trying pin forever."

The young fellows about town say that it is the most delightful thing in the world to have the members of the "City Club" show them the burns on their plump arms and snowy hands, and to have them repeat to them for sympathy. The boys are all bubbling over with sympathy, just now.

We have always admired Shout! Mountjoy's powerful, sonorous cry. On Monday he was shouting for Richard Lee, when a large crowd, which was much by the color of his coat, gathered around the speaker. While both were speaking at once there was no possibility of hearing the faint, piping voice of the auctioneer.

The Ray Chronicle says: "Let us take no retrospective steps, but with hopes of the morrow press toward the seeming goal that is ever before us. To have reached it we will need a good deal of good conscience." And then they went out of the back door, tied behind to the pump, and beat his head with a half an hour, and howled and gnashed his teeth, because he had not put his bid for the county printing two cents lower.

Our devil went to Purgatory last Friday. In order to be in good time for the picnic on the following day. As the rain did not come, the picnic was postponed, but the devil could not get home, so he made one of his visits to the city of the dead. He is still in the city of the dead, and they say he is very much annoyed by the sight of the living.

LOCAL CROP NEWS.

As an evidence of what Lafayette county can do, even during a grasshopper year, it is only necessary to take a short ride in the country and see the magnificent growth of corn, etc., which now covers the whole land. Fields which thirty or forty days ago, were bare of vegetation at the public roads, are now waving with corn from knee to waist high, and at the rate of more than a foot each week, and of that peculiar dark green color, which indicates not only continued rapid growth, but a bountiful yield to reward the husbandman for his former disappointments and exactions.

Wm. Nichols left at his office, last Monday, two stacks of corn, taken from a field of over six acres, containing, in all, which measured 14 feet 7 inches, and the other 14 feet 5 inches in height and proportionately large in circumference, each having large well-developed ears, measuring over two feet in length from the stalk to the end of the shoot.

Cap. John Barrett, near the Prairie Church, has a field of corn containing, in all, which measured 14 feet 7 inches, and the other 14 feet 5 inches in height and proportionately large in circumference, each having large well-developed ears, measuring over two feet in length from the stalk to the end of the shoot.

Stephen Reuberger, in the Mayview neighborhood, says his corn is so high and thick in the center of the field it is as dark as midnight; that the whippoorwill is continually heard therein and that the howling of the owl can be heard at all times of the day and night, the poor birds never knowing when they ought to appear in the surrounding corn. With such crop prospects, where is the man or child who dares say that Lafayette is not the garden spot of the West?

The Supreme Court has reversed the judgment in the case of Boyd et al. vs. Aired Jones, and a new trial will be had. This case involves the title to some place, at present occupied by Capt. Trigg, and is a valuable property.

The business in the circuit court is progressing favorably. The judge being up with the docket. Since the removal of the criminal business from this court the other business has been pushed forward rapidly.

Mr. C. D. Hereford, who was formerly engaged in business in this city, but now a resident of St. Albans, West Virginia, was in the city during the last week. He called at the "Caucasian" office and renewed his subscription.

The Lexington B. & C. will go down to Higginsville next Wednesday morning on the early train, and will play the Louisville Clubs match game. The knights of the ball are anticipating a very nice time. Capt. Frank T. Thirsk for glory!

Porting hot weather diarrhea, and summer complaint are common. We to-day publish a notice of a remedy called the Sun chlora mixture, which we have used, and seen used for some time, and we recommend it to every body. It is a good thing to keep about the house.

An incited individual went up to the store near H. B. Wilson's, and picked up a weight at the end of it, which on further investigation proved to be the corpse of the late Mr. Wilson. He is now in the hands of the law, and will be tried at the next session of the court.

WASTED TEARS.

It is a pity to see the many tears that are shed over the loss of a single dollar. The money is gone, and the loss is irreparable. The only way to avoid this is to be careful of one's money.
